

Enjoy a week of fantastic island-hopping on the Canary Islands and feel eternal spring!

Despite their geographical proximity, the Canary Islands are very different from each other. Gran Canaria is known as the "mini continent", with landscapes ranging from sandy dunes to inland canyons and forested mountains. La Gomera, the smallest of the three islands, features deep ravines and lush orchards, vineyards and banana plantations. Tenerife, the largest island, is the most diverse one and the home of a massive volcano named Teide, Spain's highest mountain.

What the three islands have in common are not only an outstanding scenery and a very pleasant climate that can be best described as "eternal spring", but also the most spectacular roads you can imagine. These islands are nothing less but the quintessential motorcycle paradise and offer endless riding fun! This trip is a challenge for your riding skills and a firework for all senses – convince yourself!

The truth about this tour

” This is not a tour for novice riders. Don’t waste your time or money if you don’t have a good bit of experience riding on many different roads and weather conditions.

If you love curves and challenging roads, this tour can’t be beat! It’s got it all, from the first 30 km on Day 1.

As an American, the Canary Islands have never been on my radar. I thought they were like Grand Cayman or Aruba in the Atlantic. Boy, was I wrong! These are true mountains and cliffs with roads designed and constructed by motorcyclists. The road surface is perfect and sticky even in the rain.

Gran Canary has its own version of the Grand Canyon, but with a beautiful race track cut into the walls all around!

The most amazing thing about these islands to me as a motorcyclist is how many well designed and constructed roads there are on the 3 islands we visited.

Unlike the other Extreme Tours I’ve done, this one also includes extreme weather changes. In one day you go from heat to cold, from dry to driving rain, from still air to 50mph gusts that almost knock you down, from clear to fog so thick you can barely see.

WELL WORTH THE TIME AND MONEY! What a treat! Thank you, Edelweiss! And thank you to the tour guide! Can’t wait to do another extreme tour!

Atlantic Mountains Extreme

” It’s likely that if you are an American, you’d be hard pressed to open a world map and point to the Canary Islands, let alone describe the landscape. You’d also be hard pressed to find a more diverse place to ride; geologically, culturally and climate-wise. The roads are perfect. I would never have guessed such tarmac would be found - hundreds of miles and thousands of turns - it was like a week-long track day experience through seven different countries. Coastline, desert, canyons, mountains, jungle, rain forest. Wine country, twisty little villages, steep single track roads. You name it. This was my wife’s first trip and she fell in love with extended two -up motorcycling trips. We had a few opportunities to ride solo while our wives shopped and took in the sights. Bikes were perfect, our guide was perfect. Knowledgeable about history, geography, culture, landscape, routes, food, language, everything!

It was the very best of everything- the best guided tour I’ve ever experienced. Period.

Thank you Edelweiss.
